

DUNGEONS & DRAGONS

Neurodiverse D & D Youth Group

First Saturday of the Month | 12 PM - 1:30 PM
Autism Community Store

FREE!

Dungeons & Dragons is an action-packed, role-playing adventure game that appeals to many people on the spectrum because you get to be the hero, save the world and participate meaningfully in a community. D & D can be a great vehicle to build social skills, and is a hobby that can lead to life-long opportunities for inclusive activities and friendships. The game provides an environment in which to rehearse and explore various social roles, everchanging imagination and randomness to nurture play, resilience, self-esteem, and other social skills. The Neuro-diverse D & D Youth Group is best suited for kids age 8 and up who are able to communicate, read, understand and make decisions related to the game.

D&D is a great game that allows for adults of all ages to explore a world outside of our own and build peer engagement and connections. It is a game designed for players of all skill levels to work alongside one another towards a collaborative goal that can build real world friendships. It is also a game where one can laugh, create, and work alongside, build bridges, and form bonds with our community neighbors.

The Neuro-diverse D & D Young Adult/Adult Group is best suited for people age 18 and up who are able to communicate, read, understand and make decisions related to the game.
